

We are delighted to announce that, from Monday 5th October, Georgeson will have a new office in the Netherlands.

Georgeson has been active in the Netherlands and Benelux market for over six years providing market-leading proxy solicitation and related services for numerous clients. Establishing this office further proves our commitment to this region, providing our local clients with even better levels of service.

Our new office will be in Breukelen, where our sister company IML is already based. IML is the global market leader in interactive audience response systems (you've probably seen their wireless voting handsets being used at AGMs and other events) and alongside Georgeson we can offer our clients a seamless end to end service.

If you have any questions or would like to find out how Georgeson or IML can remove some of the stress around your shareholder meeting, please get in touch using the contact details below.

Kind regards
